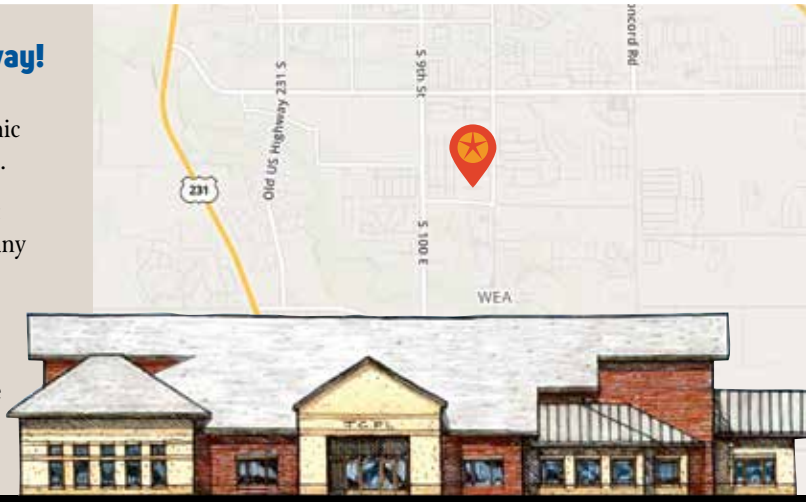
Program: County Librarian performs stories from around the world. All ages.

At 4200 S. 18th St. & CR 430 E, Construction Is Underway!

Like the Wyandotte and Klondike Branches this cozy brick building will serve all ages. It will offer thousands of print materials, a wealth of electronic materials, free Internet access, digital technologies, and a variety of devices.

But there's more to this story! This branch will feature an outdoor trail that combines an engaging story and walking. This Story Walk is just one of many ways your libraries encourage early literacy.

Gifts and corporate donations to the branch are still welcome. They will be used to purchase much-needed furniture and equipment. To create a special memorial in someone's name or make a private gift, just contact the Administration Office at 627 South Street. To do it electronically, go to tcpl.lib.in.us/support-2/foundation/



Everyone's Invited!

Library programs are open to the public and club members. Some events require tickets. To participate & win prizes, you need to sign up, read, complete & return reading records.

Director's Notes

time you read this, construction will be in full swing for a new branch of the Tippecanoe County Public Library. As I pen these words, we are stuck in what seems like a perpetual system of rain showers. Even with the rain, there is usually a bright spot somewhere on the horizon. That bright spot is the "South Branch" being built on Wea Ridge. As we "plant for the future," this is a very moving and fulfilling time for TCPL.

Constructing this branch fulfills a fifteen-year-old vision of the TCPL Board of Trustees. Their vision was to expand library services by taking the library to the people, instead of expanding the Downtown Library and having you come to it. The "South Branch" is the third branch to be built in thirteen years. When you think about it, we have been in the business of "if you build it, the people will come." We are ecstatic about building another neighborhood branch for library customers to explore and enjoy. We anticipate this branch will enrich the lives of the community, just as our other neighborhood branches have done. At Klondike and Wyandotte people certainly have come!

The building of this branch actually incorporates a second vision of the TCPL Board of Trustees. In purchasing land for the "South Branch," the Board considered the growth of a city and community that is economically flourishing. As the city continues to grow south and east, the Board envisioned the possibility of relocating the Downtown Library. In case this is decided 30-40 years from now, the Board purchased additional acreage to fulfill that vision and the library's own destiny. Obviously, this will be the decision and action of an entirely different Board, but at least that Board will have options.

As the building unfolds throughout the summer, we hope for great weather and steady progress. With cooperative weather, the building could open in the first quarter of 2020. Customer enthusiasm and excitement about a branch in the southern part of the library district is also building. Many customers have waited for this building since we discontinued operations at the Ivy Tech campus. For the Board, this "promise fulfilled" reflects their commitment to offer library service in the southern part of the county. Other people living in the area south and east of Veterans Memorial Parkway also are expressing how pleased they are that a library is coming to their side of town.

Fifteen years ago, the Board of Trustees made the commitment to be fiscally responsible in expanding library buildings. As a result, buildings are being constructed with current tax dollars without incurring additional debt for the library. Presently, the library owes money only on its Wyandotte Branch (opened August, 2016) and this current construction. On this front, the Board's vision is commendable and continues to be followed.

As a library director, construction projects are time-consuming, meticulous, and relationship-oriented. Sometimes other relationships are strained in the process. Yet, this activity is often a tangible way to confirm the library system is needed and useful. I enjoy the experience and am grateful to have the opportunity to build another branch. As time permits, drive by the branch site at the intersection of South 18th and CR 430 East. Get a first-hand look at the progress. We hope you will enjoy this bright spot on the horizon this summer, this fall, and for years to come. This "planting for the future" will benefit new generations throughout our community.
