LIBRARY NEWS

POCKET EDITION

Get Out And About. Create. Recreate!

As the summer heats up, this newsletter takes you behind the scenes to hear how library professionals develop cool ideas. TCPL doesn't just provide books and materials, we help bring together a community of readers.

Summer Reading Clubs Begin
Sign up: May 26 – July 1
Read: May 26 – July 31
All libraries. All ages.
"Summer Reading Clubs are a tradition at TCPL," said Head Youth Librarian Carol Stults. "Last year, youth participation was up considerably, and this year's 'Be Creative' theme is rich in programming opportunities!"

It's not too late to register for youth, teen, and adult Summer Reading Clubs. Pick up an official reading record, and enroll at any TCPL library. Set your own reading goals. (Children not yet reading can have books read to them.) Youth earn prizes and adults submit entries for a special drawing.

Participants of all ages who reach their final goals receive free tickets, food coupons, or gift certificates from area stores, restaurants, and more.

Start reading. Attend special programs for all ages. Get creative. Enjoy a wonderful summer @ your library.

2009 One Great Read
Persepolis* by Marjane Satrapi
Begins: Wednesday, July 1
Ends: Monday, August 31
Events in Two Counties
"Each year we choose a book that offers unique and satisfying program experiences," said TCPL Chairperson Alison Moss. "Persepolis is a personal memoir–an autobiography–created and published in the style of a graphic novel."

"We loved how wise and funny this family was, even in the midst of political and religious conflict," said WLAF Chairperson Nancy Hartman. "The illustrations have a childlike quality that helps soften the powerful adult dramas."

One Great Read programs include guest speakers, book discussions, films, and a theatrical workshop. Representatives from the Tippecanoe County Public Library system, West Lafayette Public Library, Monticello-Union Township Library, Civic Theatre of Greater Lafayette, Barnes and Noble Booksellers and local residents choose the book.

June 27 & 28, WBAA interviews Head Reference Librarian Alison Moss and Civic Theatre Managing Director Steve Koehler.

July 1, the West Lafayette Public Library hosts the 2009 One Great Read kick-off program.

July 18 & 19, WBAA airs a Persepolis book review by West Lafayette Public Library Director Nick Schenkel.

New: Summer Reading Club adult participants receive a bonus entry for reading Persepolis.

For more information, see page 6, visit area libraries and web sites, and watch for 2009 One Great Read in local news reports.

Fiber Optics, Foundation & Mobile Library

Director's Notes

Often in this column, I enjoy writing about philosophical topics related to library services and programs. I do this so you will have a better handle on what we do and why we do it. Today, I write about an improvement in library operations that is unseen because it is literally buried underground.

Maximizing all resources and providing the best possible services and programs is core to everything we do at TCPL. As we continuously look for ways to be better at what we do, TCPL recently entered the world of fiber optics and improved our wide area network (WAN) by permanently connecting the downtown library to the campus and Klondike facilities. For people who think fiber optics and WANs are exclusively for high tech industries and big business, the library's need for these technologies may be surprising. However, converting to fiber optics does more for libraries and customers than you might imagine.

Simply put, fiber optic technology converts electrical signals carrying data into light. This light is then transmitted through transparent glass fibers about the diameter of a human hair. Multiple glass fibers are bundled into cables and usually buried underground. This technology transmits data at speeds far exceeding current digital subscriber lines (DSL) or cable modems. How fast? Data typically travels by tens or even hundreds of megabits per second (Mbps).

Fiber optic is usually buried underground providing a more secure, reliable connection and greater broadband for transmitting data. TCPL installed a fiber optic wide area network (WAN) that permanently connects our downtown library to our other two buildings.

Our new WAN will vastly improve data transmissions inside each library building and between our three buildings. Our public Internet access speed will go from 1.5 Mbps to 3 Mbps –that's hundreds of times faster than information transmitted by conventional copper wire lines. With this increase in speed, TIPCAT searches will be faster. Customer circulation information will be more readily available and circulation transactions faster.

The use of a fiber optic WAN allows for greater broadband width. This translates into more content, data and graphic files, traveling through the pipeline at faster speeds than ever before. It allows your libraries to receive and send streaming video more successfully. Voice over Internet protocol (VoIP) or Internet phone use also is possible.

With fiber optic cable running underground, the possibility of lost connections because of fractured wiring is removed and disruptions due to wind movement of tower antennas is eliminated. This translates to a faster, more reliable computer network

Ultimately, this conversion to fiber optics translates into better services for library users and efficient computer operations by library staff. Improving speed and broadband connections is very costly, but also very important to your library system's ability to collect, process, and share reliable information in an increasingly fast-paced global marketplace.

All funding for this improvement came through the library's 2008 Capital Projects Fund approved by the Tippecanoe County Council. Without the research and technical expertise provided by the library staff, foresight by our Board, and the consistent support of the the County Council, this improvement might have been another 3 or more years down the road.

We are grateful to the County Council for assisting the library and partnering with us to advance library technology for users throughout the county. For your libraries, fiber optic technology is a major investment. This investment will pay off in immeasurable yet tangible benefits for library users who avail themselves of TCPL's informational resources.

No Age Limits On Creativity

All at the Downtown Library,
Alfred J. and Dorothy N.
McAllister Meeting Rooms

Pet & People Behaviors
Monday, June 1, 7:00 p.m.
Like people, pets sometimes forget their manners. Does Spot chew the furniture, become overly aggressive or often run away? Does Tiger Lilly scratch the furniture, disappear during thunderstorms or leave surprises outside the box for you? Purdue professor and director of the Pet Wellness Clinic Steve Thompson offers answers questions about pets and retrains the people who own them.

Making Art Fun For Kids
Two Programs.
Parents: June 3, 7:00 p.m.
Grandparents: June 10, 10:00 a.m.
What to do with the kids this summer? Learn simple techniques. Create fine art with children. Watch a presentation. Pick up directions for projects to try at home. Two adult programs with projects designed for youth ages 6-10.

Foreclosures & Finances
A Pro Se Program
Tuesday, June 16, 6:30 p.m.
With so much talk about foreclosures, it's difficult to separate fact from fiction. What are the Indiana laws? What is the process? How long does it take? Is reliable, affordable assistance available? In addition to practicing business, real estate, and family law, attorney and Area 4 Pro Se representative Robert S. Laszynski provides information and answers questions.

"One Size Fits All"
Improv Comedy Troupe
Saturday, June 27, 2:00 p.m.
Watch teams of improv players battle for laughs. Hear how players create scenes, games, and songs right on the spot. Find out how you can do it. Beware! You might end up "on stage."

"Man On Wire"
Award-Winning Documentary
Wednesday, June 17, 6:30 p.m.
See Phillippe Petit's daring tightrope journey, not once, but eight times between the World Trade Center towers in 1974. This acclaimed documentary includes original film footage, features recent interviews with Petit, and reveals how this thrilling performer carried out what some consider "the artistic crime of the century."

Tippecanoe County Archaeology
Wednesday, July 8, 7:00 p.m.
Before French traders built Fort Ouiatenon, 15 miles upstream Wea Indians operated a large trade center called Kethtippecanunk. Hear assistant professor of anthropology from the University of Southern Indiana, Dr. Michael Strezewski. See archeological excavations and artifacts. Discuss cultures thriving long before Europeans paddled up the Wabash.

How Does Your Garden Grow?

Canning & Preserving
Thursday, August 20, 7:00 p.m.
It's amazing how much delicious food a few plants can produce. Join Purdue Extension Educator Kathy Murray for a timely program on canning, freezing, and food preservation. Bushels or pounds? High acid or low? Learn about pressure cookers, containers, lids, seals, rings and more. It's harvest time @ TCPL.
