Director's Notes

By Jos N. Holman
Tippecanoe County Librarian

In June 2007, the Klondike Branch of the Tippecanoe County Public Library opened its doors. More than 1.2 million circulations and 520,000 visits later, the success of Klondike has exceeded all expectations. TCPL's first true neighborhood branch is now performing splendidly, especially given its size in relation to the other two buildings. Though the circulation numbers speak volumes, (yes, pun intended), there are other aspects of the building that bode just as well.

The Tempest Homes meeting room is used regularly. Until the new Wabash Township fire station was completed (2012), it served as a local election-polling site. In addition to hosting a variety of public events and meetings, it is also home to increasing numbers of library programs.

At the heart of the building a stone fireplace area delightfully contributes to a cozy atmosphere, as it was intended to do. It also ignited (a second pun!) a book discussion group aptly named the Fireside Book Group.

On the exterior, a well-utilized drive-up book drop is extremely popular and offers customers 24-hour convenience. The native grasses and plants have done well and provide refuge for several acceptable small critters. Some return year after year!

Finally, the location of the building fosters rewarding relationships and interesting programming opportunities with the nearby Klondike elementary and middle schools.

Yes, there have been a few facilities/equipment challenges, mostly with the HVAC system, but nothing that can't be resolved. With last summer's drought, we also discovered our lawn sprinkler system needed several adjustments. This summer we expect it to perform according to specifications.

Occasionally, strong winds have blown through the neighborhood and dislodged roofing shingles or siding, and this required some minor repairs. But overall, the building is holding up pretty well.

Perhaps the most important Klondike feature is the "single point of service" desk from which branch staff serve all visitors and customers. With the same staff member answering reference questions, helping customers locate items, and checking out materials, this way of serving strengthens our relationships with customers.

Branch staff are specially cross-trained to handle circulation transactions, answer reference questions, and conduct programs. This offers staff a greater variety of daily tasks, and enables us to staff at a different level than if the branch had separate circulation and reference desks.

Why point out the accomplishments of the Klondike Branch to the exclusion of TCPL's other buildings? It is because another key accomplishment is eminent. In late December, the final payment of the eight-year $2.5 million general obligation bond that served as the primary construction fund is scheduled to be made.

Obviously, it is a privilege to make this final payment, and our ability to do so is the direct result of financial support by local taxpayers. With a dedicated debt service tax levy for issuing bonds, consistent collection of local property taxes, and good stewardship by the TCPL Board of Trustees, construction of the Klondike Branch did not become a long-term debt for local taxpayers.

A key factor in the decision to build the Klondike Branch was the need for convenient library services in the northern portion of the county. Based on your excellent use of the facility, the decision was a great one! We feel proud and privileged to serve this growing area.

As the county continues its economic growth and new opportunities develop, we look forward to finding strategic ways to expand library services.
